A combination of parallel fourths, pentatonic scales, and liberal pedaling evoke the magical quality of this piece. The purposeful dissonances represent the spans of time I barricaded my cabinets with chairs, put up baby gates, or whisked away a glass or breakable dish before someone with tiny hands sent it crashing to the floor! Those older parents who stated, "Enjoy them while they're little; you'll miss it one day" surely erased the baby-proofing chapter from their memories. If you have little children or younger siblings in your house, hang in there!
